1. Briefly describe the nominated individual background, purpose of applying the award and, history (up to 300 words).

Over ten years ago, I started working in the travel and tourism industry. After spending so much time investigating the market, I discovered that there is no complete solution that enables travel companies of any size to keep their operations in order by keeping accurate records and doing regular audits. Travel businesses may keep track of all their daily activities, including daily accounts, vendor and customer management, staff payroll, spending, and a host of other capabilities. The most challenging aspect of travel agencies' ERP—which differs greatly from standard ERP—is their return policy. Additionally, travel agencies use a different accounting system than most businesses.

We are presenting Trabill which is specially designed for Travel Business. In Bangladesh. By this software, you can manage your sales, expenses, refund, client and vendor ledger, passport management, and many more. It has everything to operate the back of the office of a travel agency. After spending so much time investigating the market, I developed a software program called "TRABILL" that enables travel companies of any size to keep their operations in order by keeping accurate records and doing regular audits. Travel businesses may keep track of all their daily activities, including daily accounts, vendor and customer management, staff payroll, spending, and a host of other capabilities through this system. The most challenging aspect of travel agencies' ERP—which differs greatly from standard ERP—is their return policy. Additionally, travel agencies use a different accounting system than most businesses. Utilizing the software, travel agencies can keep track of their ticket revenue.

The award itself is very prestigious and it helps individuals gain a lot of insights and a community to help develop its endeavors. The Awards also honor organizations for their significant social and environmental achievements provided by high standards of customer service, dedication to their clients, charitable objectives, moral conduct, and environmental sustainability.

By taking part in the Commonwealth Business Excellence Award 2023, it will help my business grow even further.
